

Become a Son or daughter of God. (According to Jesus)

Although the following appears to be irrational and a bit sarcastic, it is based completely on the Greek New Testament; a prime example of an undependable non-inspired document.

Most Christians will say that Jesus said he was “the son of God.” This is not Biblical, but it is what most Christians would say. The fact is Jesus himself said he was the son of man over 85 places in the KJV of the Bible, but Jesus never specifically said that he was “the son of God” but this was what some others said, not Jesus.

Some Christians say that Jesus is “God the Son.” This is also not Biblical, but if they believe in a Trinity God, they would also say that Jesus is the second person of the Trinity. If this were true, Jesus must also be a part of the God-head personage. But the Greek New Testament states that God is Spirit meaning air, breath, (John 4:24), therefore according to the Greek New Testament, God is not a physical entity. I wonder how Jesus could be the second person of the Spirit (air, breath) of God. By the way, Christians believe that the third person of their Trinity God is called the Holy Spirit, so I guess there are two “Spirit Gods,” one Father God and one Holy Spirit God, and a third one, the physical God named Jesus? Jesus is not a “Spirit” God since he himself said he was not a Spirit, (Luke 24: 36-40).

But I digress, back to how to “Become a son or daughter of God.”

Matthew 12:50 KJV says (a quote from Jesus), “For whosoever shall do the will of my Father which is in heaven, the same is my brother, and sister, and mother.”

So, according to Jesus, as quoted in the book of Matthew, if you do the will of his Father (I assume God which is in heaven), “the same is his brother, and sister, and mother.” Notice: he does not say becomes, he said “is” (present tense) as it is quoted according to the written record. (Matthew 12:50 KJV).

According to the book of Matthew of the Greek New Testament, Jesus said, for anyone to become a brother, a sister, or a mother of Jesus, is to: “do the will of my Father which is in heaven.” The only thing left to do is to determine what the “will” of the Father of Jesus in Heaven is. If you do His will, you are then a brother or a sister or a mother of Jesus.

To extend this reasoning a bit further, if Jesus is the son of God, or if he is God the son like some Christians believe he is, and if you are his brother or sister, or mother like Jesus said you are by doing the will of his Father, then you are also be a son of God, or a daughter of God; or his mother (of God??) just like Jesus said as is recorded in Matthew 12:50.....!!

For our real but not irrational or sarcastic Biblical truth visit:

<http://AOYCascade.com>

